DEATH

Your pain is the breaking of the shell that encloses your understanding.
Even as the stone of the fruit must break, that its heart may stand in the sun, so you must know pain.
And could you keep your heart in wonder at the daily miracles of your life,
your pain would not seem less wonderous than your joy;
And you would accept the seasons of your heart, even as you have always accepted the seasons that pass over your fields.
and you would watch with serenity through the winters of your grief.

Much pain is self chosen.
It is the bitter potion by which the physician within you heals your sick self.
Therefore trust the physician, and drink his remedy in silence and tranquility:
For his hand, though heavy and hard, is guided by the tender hand of the Unseen,
And the cup he brings, though it burns your lips, has been fashioned of clay which the Potter has moistened with his own sacred tears.

ALCHEMY OF SCORPIO ♏

THE MYSTICAL POWER OF "I REGENERATE"

Scorpius, a creature of Gaia (mother of Earth), tells the tale of life's passions and poisons in which either can lead to death. There are two accounts of how this constellation came to be; both recount a similar story of pride, secrecy and jealousy. In the end, the contenders received their honours for fighting bravely.

MYTHOS - Orion, a mortal and great hunter, contested the gods, attracting the Goddess Artemis as his friend. Artemis, The Greatest of the Hunt, fond of Orion, enjoyed their rivalry and comradeship. Unfortunately, Orion trying to empress Artemis, made the mistake of boasting he could kill all the beasts of the Earth. Gaia did not like this, nor did Artemis, as she was also a protector of animals. Thus Scorpius was sent to prove Orion wrong, and a great battle ensued, which caught the attention of all the Gods. In the end, Orion, stung by Scorpius, died. To honour their great contest, they were both placed in the sky. In the second version, Apollo, Artemis's twin brother, sent Scorpius because of his jealousy between Orion and Artemis's friendship. Secretly Apollo lusted after and wanted Orion for himself but was ashamed of his desire. In his betrayal, he tricked his sister into inadvertently killing her closest friend, leaving an opportunity for Orion to be stung by Scorpius, thereby causing his death. After realizing what she had done, she placed Orion and Scorpius in the sky to remind us of love and the treachery of those who are false to themselves.

Scorpio is known for its intensity and expression or suppression of emotions. They live passionately with a resourceful spirit, never giving up. They are powerfully cunning and sexy, and prestige in work is essential to them. They do well in management positions where they can remain passionate and dedicated. Often work and personal relationships are kept separate. Their power is a triplicity, choosing either; the Scorpion (a carrier of death), the Eagle (to rise above) or the Phoenix (to transformed and regenerate).

Scorpio power is Fixed energy (difficulty letting go of the past) - intensity, mystery, sexuality, passion, perceptiveness, determination, intelligence, fixed and focused. Pluto is the ruler of Scorpio and the king of the underworld. He offers transformation through the sacred death mysteries of sex, excretion and rebirth. His is to advance our spiritual growth and the hidden desires buried deep in the subconscious mind. Where we find Pluto is where we seek change and transformation or have it thrust upon us, especially if we refuse to accept our deepest needs. When working with Pluto's energy, one can find acceptance of mistakes and the opportunity to put to rest the past moving forward to a better place. When not in alignment with his lessons or unaccepting of death or endings' power, life can lead to shattering changes and significant crises, forcing one to examine one's motives, obsessions, and anxieties at the deepest levels. Pluto was discovered on February 18th, 1930, almost right between World War I and World War II, and takes 248 years to complete his orbit, taking over 12 years to transit through a house. Pluto is the higher octave of Mars; Pluto = rules the Night, and Mars = rules the Day.
